Our 40 bed hospital in Alabama was looking to add a surgeon to the medical staff and we knew that we could benefit from the assistance of an experienced physician recruiter. We chose to work with The Medicus Firm and were pleased with the results as they consistently met and exceeded our expectations in terms of communication, production, knowledge of specialty and dedication to the project.

For several reasons outside of their control the search took longer than expected, but they continued working beyond the end of our contract and ultimately got the job done. They presented us qualified and interested candidates and found us a physician we are very excited about.

We were informed in the beginning that the search would be difficult based on our rural location and lack of call and coverage, but the job was done very professionally. I recommend The Medicus Firm to anyone looking for an experienced and results-oriented recruitment partner. Please call me with any questions you have about their services.
