The Oregon Health & Science University Center for Women's Health has been very appreciative of the recent search efforts conducted by The Medicus Firm and specifically, their Vice President of Academic Recruitment, Mark Lozano.

Mark was in communication with me and physician leadership on a consistent basis – and on a schedule that worked effectively for our leadership. His receptivity and direct feedback were helpful in making the necessary adjustments to effectively recruit quality physicians. He was personable and focused on results. We never felt as though we were competing with other clients for Mark's time. Mark demonstrated that he respects the time of our academic leaders and worked professionally in keeping us informed on the candidate search progress as well as making helpful suggestions in regard to marketing and positioning our academic openings within the national market. He was able to apprise us of strategies and provide information which enabled us to be more attractive to potential candidates. We have been told that the newly developed Academic Division is the fastest growing part of the company; and we can understand why – based on the high level of focus and professionalism Mark brought to our search.

We view Mark Lozano and The Medicus Firm as trusted partners that are focused on filling our searches with top quality physicians that not only share our values, but will help lead our system for years to come. Please feel free to contact me with any questions regarding The Medicus Firm and our experience regarding their performance.

Sincerely,
