RE: The Medicus Firm – Physician Executive Search

To Whom It May Concern:

I am very pleased to write on behalf of The Medicus Firm and the excellent job they did for me with an important physician executive search. Commonwealth Health is a health system comprised of eight medical centers/hospitals. We have over 1,600 physicians and 6,500 employees across the system and feel we provide the most comprehensive healthcare network for the entire region. We recently had a critical need to recruit a dynamic Chief Medical Officer to our largest hospital, Wilkes-Barre General.

Bob Collins and his team did a magnificent job of professionally screening and introducing quality candidates. We were presented an excellent slate of physician executives with the experience and the ties to the region we originally hoped to find, and The Medicus Firm was there every step of the way. The behavioral assessments were very well done and spot on, and Bob did a great job throughout the negotiation and closing stages of the search. I could not have asked for more from a search firm throughout the entire process.

Our new CMO starts later this month and I am thrilled to have such an outstanding candidate assume this critical role within our health system. I would not hesitate to use the Medicus Firm again in the future and can recommend their services without reservation.

Sincerely,

Cornelio Catena
