It is no secret that Physician recruitment is a timely pursuit; it can be difficult to find the right personality to fit a private practice along with one that appreciates the lifestyle that Neillsville has to offer.

After attempting unsuccessfully to recruit a physician on our own, it was imperative that we selected a recruiting firm to assist our organization that truly understood the way of life here and would be passionate about helping us find a good fit for the practice and community. We hired the Medicus Firm.

I first met a representative of The Medicus Firm in January. From the time that she stepped foot in our hospital she has demonstrated the highest levels of integrity and professionalism as well as being extremely knowledgeable and forthright. She explained their process and plainly laid out what has made them so successful.

From the standpoint of recruiters, their recruiter epitomizes the dedication and devotion of providing not just candidates, but quality candidates that meet our criteria. Our recruiter visited our facility and community in person. His profile of our opportunity was very detailed. He was able to then quickly identify, screen and present candidates. In a very short time we had an excellent physician with interest to our area.

In just 100 days from start to finish we signed a phenomenal candidate that we had hoped for and our community desperately needed.

This was my first experience working with The Medicus Firm and they delivered. It is without hesitation that I highly recommend engaging with The Medicus Firm in the recruitment of quality physicians.

Sincerely,
